President's Message

I hope everyone is getting out and enjoying our sometimes spring weather. I have a large backyard to clean up after the neighborhood kids have played there all winter.

I have a few new (to me) hints this month:

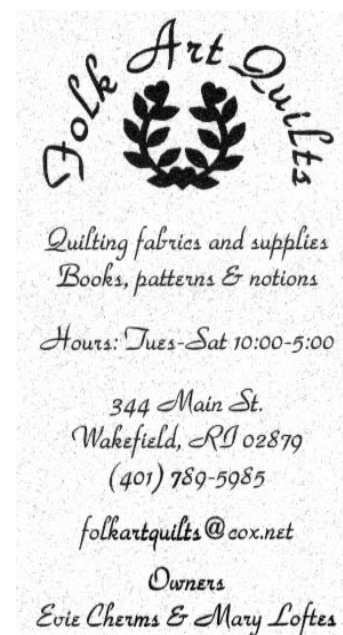

- ✂ To see if your quilting thread will do what you want, fade into the background or stand out, simply snip several pieces of thread onto the quilt top and you will see how it will look quilted. This method is much more accurate than just laying a line of thread across the project.
- ✂ Those paint card samples from the paint counters in Home Depot or Wal-Mart with the three or four different matching colors could help you decide on the colors of your next project. I used one with sand, brick, purple and green colors in my house. (I got very ambitious this winter). Now if I want to make a matching wall hanging I have all my colors on a nice little paint card!
- ✂ My third hint is if you are using batik fabrics with regular cotton always sew with the batik on top. Batik doesn't stretch as much as regular fabric.

Please remember at our May meeting we will be having an Auction for the New England Museum, Show and Tell, and Election of Officers. Also, don't forget that your dues are due. Don't be disappointed in September - pay your dues in May (if you haven't already) so you will not forget to rejoin by June 1!

Thanks,
Pat Cole

Mary Elizabeth Palumbo, Joan Taylor, Co-Chairs

Interview with Beth Gutierrez

Beth Gutierrez has a unique style of quilting that brings appliqué to a new and different level of expression. She is a quilter who truly paints with fabric, and her creations are exquisite.

The Narragansett Bay Quilters' Association was fortunate to have Beth as one of the workshop presenters in January 2007. Her "Black Line Appliqué Seagulls" workshop showed how to achieve spectacular results by using two tools – a black fabric pen and a Post-It note glue stick. Appliqué will never be the same, thanks to Beth!

Beth lived for many years in Mexico City, Mexico with her husband and two children. While there, she opened a needlework shop, where she sold needlework products and taught classes in hand embroidery. When the currency was devalued in Mexico, she decided to sell her needlework shop. That is when she discovered quilting as an outlet for her many talents. She started quilting from kits from the Keepsake Quilting catalog. (Keepsake Quilting's website is www.keepsakequilting.com). She then purchased a Fons and Porter quilting techniques book and worked her way through those lessons as a way to learn new quilting techniques. What a way to start! For those of you who don't know about Fons and Porter, here is their website – www.fonsandporter.com.

After completing her journey through the Fons and Porter Quilt Book, Beth then turned to the Elly Sienkiewicz quilting book "Baltimore Beauties and Beyond", one of the most comprehensive books on how to do hand appliqué. Yes, she quilted her way through that book, too.

In 1993, while living in Mexico, she found a group of "international" women who enjoyed quilting. They would meet on a regular basis and teach each other the quilting techniques they enjoyed. Soon, Beth was machine quilting the creations of that group.

In 1995 Beth attended the Houston Quilt Show and that is where her eyes were opened to the "artistic" side of quilting. She knew then that she could design her own quilts instead of following someone else's patterns. And, she could appliqué by machine, and not just by hand. She was on her way to developing her own unique style of appliqué.

In 1996, Beth and her family moved back to the US and settled in Peacedale, RI. In 1997, she started teaching quilting classes at Folk Art Quilts in Wakefield, RI. She has now been teaching for ten years at Folk Art Quilts. There is a waiting list for her classes that are quite popular. Many quilters have been attending her classes for years, so when a place opens up, the next person on the waiting list is sure to grab it! Beth has many quilting patterns for sale at Folk Art Quilts; especially her popular series of RI lighthouse quilt patterns.

Beth's journey to her unique appliqué quilting style started out with many attempts at trying to show a black line around an appliquéd piece. She experimented with satin stitching a black outline around her appliqué pieces - even trying to couch black cord around her appliqué. She finally discovered that outlining the placement of a piece of fabric with a black fabric pen, and then using a Post-It note type glue to affix the appliqué to the fabric was the way to achieve her goal.

Besides quilting, Beth is a volunteer for the Yankee Chihuahua Rescue and Adoption program. Just stop by at Folk Art Quilts and you are likely to see her with an adoptee in her arms. We are fortunate to have Beth as a member of the NBQA.

UFO AUCTION

Our biennial UFO Auction will take place at the May 17th meeting. Bill Spicer, a professional auctioneer and the brother of NBQA member Sue Ellis, has volunteered his expertise and time to run our auction this year. It should be an exciting night for us. I have already accumulated many great items for the auction, however, I am still accepting donations if you would like to donate something. If you contact me ahead of time I will make arrangements to pick them up. Otherwise, you can bring them to me at the church between 2 PM and 4:30 PM on the day of the meeting. I will have the lots on view by 6 PM that evening.

Thank you to all who have contributed in all ways to this auction. It takes the work of many people to organize an event and make it a success.

The proceeds of the auction go to The New England Quilt Museum. The museum is a great organization and needs our support to continue their work in the promotion and preservation of quilting. So, please come to the auction with some money to spend in anticipation of leaving with some great treasures.

If you have any questions please contact Ginny Perry.

RAFFLE QUILT at the NEW ENGLAND QUILT MUSEUM

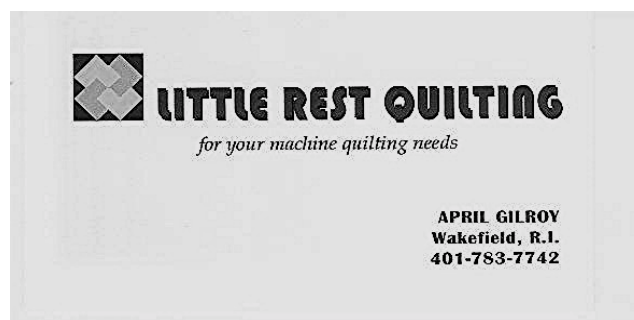

The New England Quilt Museum has offered us space at the Lowell Quilt Festival (IMAGES) to display our raffle quilt and sell raffle tickets. The Lowell Quilt Festival is Aug. 2-5, 2007 in Lowell, MA. In exchange for this courtesy they are asking us to provide 10 hours of “white glove” service for each day we would like to display our quilt. If anyone is going to the show and could either sell tickets or white glove (while you go around and see the quilts) please contact me. This is a very nice quilt show with a good attendance. It would be a great opportunity to showcase our beautiful quilt that our members have worked so hard on. Please contact Ginny Perry by May 18th if you can help.

CELL PHONE REMINDER

PLEASE, PLEASE, PLEASE REMEMBER TO TURN OFF (OR PUT ON VIBRATE) YOUR CELL PHONE WHEN YOU COME TO THE NBQA MEETINGS AND WORKSHOPS.

Finished size must be no smaller than 40" perimeter (10x10) and there is no maximum size. The piece must be three layers, quilted and have a finished edge.

Get your creative juices flowing and enjoy this project over the summer. One idea is "A Spot Along the Way" with a play on 'spot'. Have some fun with this!

Classroom – Quilt Journaling

Journal Quilting was “invented” by artist, Jeanne Williamson, who, since 1999, has been making a quilt a week to document her life and her observations. In 2002, Karey Patterson Bresenhan, director of the International Quilt Festival in Houston and Chicago created the “JOURNAL QUILT PROJECT” and it has been ongoing since then. Anyone, regardless of skill level, may participate. Participant quilts are premiered annually each fall at Houston's International Quilt Festival (November 1-4, 2007) and may also be seen the following spring at the International Quilt Festival in Chicago. If you are interested in participating in the 2007 formal project, learn more by going to this website:

<http://home.att.net/~kareyb/JournalQuilts2007.htm>

Quilt Journaling is a free-form exercise in creativity, specifically planned to encourage quilters and quilt artists to stretch and grow by trying new methods--experimenting with color, image, composition, materials, and/or technique. Keeping a written journal to record influences on their experimental quilting work and their own reactions to this work is part of the project and is intended to show creative development and personal progress. Many quilters are doing “Quilt Journals” on their own.

Here's why:

- Represent events in your life
- Express your feelings and creative ideas through quilting much the same way another person would choose to keep a written journal
- Try new techniques that you are reluctant to devote an entire quilt to.
- Move from traditional quilts to “art quilts.”
- Practice/master new skills.
- Use as “samples” if you want to make quilts for sale

Here's how:

- Browse through your quilt books & magazines; review award winning quilts and select ideas you want to try
- Keep the quilts small so they do not become intimidating. A common size is 8.5"x11."
- Set a target or goal e.g. to make 1 journal quilt per month.
- Display them around your studio or create a “binder” for them
- Be sure to accompany each with a short “write up” including: why you chose the theme; description of the technique(s) you used; and your thoughts on how you think it turned out.

Many guilds have developed Quilt Journaling projects for member participation. Maybe the NBQA should? Maybe it could be included in our Quilt Shows. All we need is a leader. Could it be you?
